- About Us -

Elins.net has started with the Company's Head , Hiroshi Shimizu.

Over 40 years, Shimizu just like any collector has problems in cleaning the records and CDs which has tried many products to achieve maximum cleaning and at the same time improve sound quality. As a Chemist and a Vinyl/Cd Collector, the knowledge and experience have been combined to come up and discover the new record cleaner every collector had ever wished for over the past decades.

Elins.net is currently rapidly rising worldwide and will introduce more great products in the near future.

- About our Products-

Last August 2009,we have released in the market our first product Elune SAE Level 9 (Strength) here in Japan.It gain favorable feedback from our customers. Our company has decided to release in the market on December 2010, four new higher quality products namely Level 12,18,36 and 54.

Our product is also composed of vegetable fatty acids. Nanotechnology has been used on these vegetable fatty acids for excellent results. Exclusive water and nanotechnologized vegetable fatty acid mixed together produces a good cleaning agent formula. But as we have used an advance technology ,and discovered a great breakthrough , these two ingredients' molecules are broken down to miniscule units and thus creating a unique and outstanding cleaning agent for CD's and Vinyls!!! CDs and Vinyl surfaces have very small dirt and dust that can only be removed by a minimized molecule cleaning agent.

So each Level is defined by their particle size.

Level 9 has average particle size of 300 nanometer

Level 36 has average particle size of 100 nanometer.

level 54 has average particle size 80 nanometer.

Each level (particle size of product) has been carefully studied and sound monitoring has been done to to match each sound type we want to achieve. For example Level 10 is not a cleaning agent because it was tested and only created more noise .So everything is all about the balance in molecules to create an outstanding cleaning agent and achieve higher sound quality on CDs and Vinyls..

On october 2011, we have released a higher level of products and had upgraded it more. These are namely S 1.0-1.5, SS-1.5, R-1.5,2.0,3.0 and 5.0.

After the release of these products, feedback from japanese customers have been carefully monitored. So after feedback monitoring and series of tests and studies and have been carefully made, we have created 2 new products for export Worldwide giving you the best quality!!!

Elune Level 9- (Strength) and Elune Level 36 (Vintage)

Elune Level 9 is highly recommended for Vinyls although this can be used for CDs aswell. When used on Vinyl, very noticeable improvement of sound quality will be achieved. Noise produced by very small dirt and dust on the grooves will be removed due to the specialized ingredients and advance technology we have stated earlier and not any Vinyl/CD cleaner in the worldwide market can clean as the same as this product.

Aside from the noise from dirt and dust, another amazing thing that this product can do is about the static noise. The noise produced by static will be reduced up to 70 percent because of the coulomb balance that these product performs upon cleaning.!!!

We had series of tests on Vinyls and these are the results of our current tests..aside from the test, japanese customer's feedback is very credible and these are the feedbacks we have received.

A Vinyl with a grading of EX(excellent), after using this product , grading will go up to NM(NearMint)!!!

If you use this on ESOTERIC SACD which is a master level recording /remastering CD, analogue noise can be heard as it was re-mastered from its original master tapes. But after using this product, analogue noise will be reduced and therefore you can listen to a more natural sound on this CD.

LEVEL 36 is a very unique and interesting product for it has only 20-30 size particle. This product performs on sound dimension. It will basically change the sound dimension and you can have a new listening experience on your CD or even Vinyl . We often depend on high-end expensive mixers, amplifiers, cables and speakers (though we do not discourage) , but this wonder product can make you think you are listening in a big hall !!! . Better would be is to try our two products and you will surely be amazed and satisfied.

- Learning About Nanotechnology -

Natural Organic solutions products are based on a new technology called "colloidal chemistry or Nano Technology" that brings an entirely new approach to the science of cleaning.

"One of this century's most promising advancements in environmental science."

The heart of this new chemistry is the technology used to create a "colloidal micelle."

This micelle is about the size of 10 hydrogen atoms, or one nanometer.

Sub-microscopic particles are created in a microscopic field similar to a magnetic field. Micelles are sub-microscopic, electrically charged particles that, when activated in water, repel each other in a ceaseless random movement. This action of a single micelle is multiplied by billions of other micelles, resulting in a molecular emulsification process, which penetrates highly viscous and sticky materials, lifting them from the surface to which they are adhered. These nano-sized emulsions offer inherent advantages over traditional chemicals, in reduced application rate, more rapid and reliable activation and extended long term affect.

Colloidal chemistry or Nano Technology makes it possible to convert extracts of natural plants into amazingly powerful, yet surprisingly mild and gentle solutions which comprise 99 % of all cleaning challenges. Natural organic solutions products are based on this new science. They are the only known plant-based, non-acidic, non-caustic, hypoallergenic cleaners that effectively remove dirt.

As a fatty acid, nano/colloidal technology is antimicrobial, antibacterial and antifungal.

- Quality -

Since Japanese products history is very limited due to language translation.

This site is uniquely made for buyers to have knowledge on my countries' products history.

It includes a lot of information on products and issue identification. As our experience of over 40 years , we have researched and is still continuing to learn more to our best effort to avoid errors on the information we provide.

If you see that we have an error on some of the information, please kindly contact us.

Accurate item descriptions are also on our best concern.

You may be surprised with some of the items with very high value prices but we assure you that the information regarding these products will be very much detailed as possible unlike other website which provide very limited proof of its products authenticity.

We hope that this website will answer a lot of questions on your mind.

May we have the privilege to give you a satisfying business transaction.
